MEET our Teacher

Mr. Nigel Roach has been involved with Technology for several years and has worked in various roles from managing servers, mainframes and IT departments in the corporate world, to campus networks and classrooms in the arena of education. He has taught IT from forms 1 through 6 at Trinity College East and some of his students have gone on to further their education in computer engineering and programming at universities abroad.

With a Masters degree in Business and IT Mr. Roach uses his first hand experiences to help enrich the students' understanding of the world of technology around them by bringing tangible references to topics that might otherwise seem conceptual to young minds.
